THE Undersigned Grocer's Shop has been established at No. 100, Macao Street, Macao, for many years. In 1867 Macao and Poon-ching Teas were added to our commodity of trade, and a branch under the shop name MAX DOUGLAS was established at Calcutta. Our tea is of finest quality, hence a large business has been done under the patronage of English merchants in late years. The fine quality of our tea having caused some evil disposed persons to apply our shop names to their inferior articles, thus our reputation and right is infringed, and the English merchants are imposed upon by them. We have therefore brought this matter before the notice of the authorities, and will take immediate proceedings against any person who has infringed our right.

THURSDAY, May 2nd.
Marguerite Durbin was yesterday placed at the bar of the Police Court, charged with the wilful murder of Madame Kie, at 13, Park Lane, on Sunday, the 7th ult. Evidence at length was taken, including much of the testimony given at the inquest, together with the additional evidence which had been shown the circumstances which led to the prisoner's arrest in Paris. At seven o'clock in the evening the examination was adjourned.

The official inquiry into the origin of the Bolton riots and disturbances last week was held yesterday. One feature of the proceedings was a protest by the clerk of the magistracy, on behalf of that body, against the manner in which it was proposed to conduct the investigation.

The wife of the man Hurrey, of Flinton, one of the "Rebels People" who is now awaiting his trial for the manslaughter of one of his children, has herself been committed to trial in respect of another child, which died while her husband was a prisoner in Newgate. A telegram from our Special Correspondent at Strasbourg gives full particulars of the case, and of the University there yesterday. The coroner's inquest into the death of the child, which had been found in a room, and was decorated for the occasion. The military and civil authorities of the city were present, as well as deputations from various Universities, and about 5,000 visitors. The civil governor of Alsace and Lorraine presided, in the name of the Emperor, the new Charter of the institution to the Rector, who, on receiving it, made a short speech, in a loud and eloquent voice, and was afterwards delivered by one of the Professors, and the ceremony, which had been interrupted by the performance of music, terminated at about half-past one. A dinner followed in the evening.

Marshall Savran has brought to buy the most daring of the Carlist leaders—Rada. Our Special Correspondent telegraphs from Madrid that an engagement has been entered into by the Government has officially announced the capture of Rada and his flight toward the frontier. While Ministerial accounts from Madrid represent the Carlist hands to be melting away, and the necessity of the Government for rallying for the throne, Paris advises also that the Carlists now hold the railway between Bilbao and Miranda. They have been considered enough not to stop the ordinary traffic. As to the movement of Rada himself, the uncertainty still prevails. He is said by one authority to have returned to Genoa, after launching his bombshell of a proclamation. A distinguished supporter of ex-Queen Isabella, the Duke of Salazar, has been arrested, and is welcome to Madrid in the shape of a judge's warrant for his arrest, which was presented to him when he arrived at the railway station from Paris.

Though the Republicans have not actually taken up arms, they have left nothing else to do which might embarrass the Government. One of them caused a scene in the Cortes by declaring that the majority was illegally elected, and then refusing to withdraw his resignation. After this the Federal section of the Republicans held a meeting to endeavour to agree on a plan of action, but they came no further than to discuss the matter.

Her Imperial Majesty the Empress of Russia, who arrived at Windsor on a visit to the Queen, who met her at the Windsor Station. Prince Arthur accompanied the Empress from Dover to London, her Majesty having crossed from Ostend.

Important communications have passed between the French Government and the Committee appointed to secure the publication of the evidence on the capitulations. General Cisneros opened his statement, stating that the Government had unanimously resolved to try Marshal Bazaine by a special court-martial. He demanded to a similar request concerning General de Wimpfen, on the ground that it had not yet been under consideration. The committee afterwards informed M. Thiers, their chairman, that de Wimpfen should be placed on trial, in order to bring out the whole of the evidence.

Two million pounds sterling worth of property has been destroyed at Zamboanga during the hurricane which occurred on the 14th of April. The casualties on shore amounted to an almost entire destruction of the town. At the anchorage every vessel, save the Albatross, either stranded or sunk. The Albatross was again examined before Sir Thomas Henry, at Bow-street, for the murder of Madame Kie, in Park Lane, by the advice of her counsel she recovered her defence, and was finally committed to take her trial at the Central Criminal Court, on the charge of wilful murder.

MR. EDMUNDS AND THE TREASURY.
On 23rd April in the Court of Queen's Bench, in the case of Edward Edmunds v. The Treasury, Gladstone, M.P., and others, Mr. Joyce moved on behalf of the plaintiff for a rule for the purpose of having the action tried at the sitting of the present term. The action was for an alleged libel contained in a Treasury Circular, and Mr. Edmunds complained that the trial had been veraciously delayed by the defendants. The Lord Chief Justice said as the sitting after this term only lasted six days, he should like to know what the trial was likely to occupy. Mr. Joyce replied that plaintiff's case would only occupy a short time, but if the Attorney-General appeared for defendants he could not undertake to say when the trial would be held. The Attorney-General, Mr. Edmunds, was before the arbitrator thirteen days. The Court refused to take the case, which stood for trial at the sittings after Trinity Term, on 1st of September, 1872.

STEAM V. DEER.
A race with steam and non by a herd of deer. This extraordinary event occurred in one of the valleys of the Rocky Mountains and on the line of the Pacific Railway. The course was an miles long and extremely narrow, and the deer, which were a little race, which proved the occasion of the race, for a herd of deer were quietly refreshing themselves, when suddenly a train approached. The deer began to tremble, and the frightened troop and their red and yellow of steam and moving his startled while, but the deer, instead of stopping and turning aside, stepped unhesitatingly to the front, while the train crew on its passengers loudly applauding so gallant a feat.

A verdict of death from disease of the lungs, accelerated by starvation, was returned by the coroner's jury at Mile-end New Town at an inquest held on the body of Anne Hutchinson, aged thirty-three. She had been employed making shirts for a City firm, but, in consequence of the low rate of remuneration, she received, became ill and destitute. She refused to go into the workhouse, and lived for some time by selling what little furniture and clothes she had. A few days since she parted with what was left of her clothing, and the money thus obtained purchased food, which, however, she was too ill to eat, and she was found dead next day with the food lying near her. The coroner said that the case was a deplorable one, but that it was a type of many others that had come under his notice. A needlewoman in London never made much money, and she always had a hard fight for life.
